

Court date set for murder accused

THE man charged with murder after a man in the street last week will appear in court at Oxford Crown Court on July 17.

David Brooks, 46, of Mayfair Road in Oxford, is accused of killing the victim, who died from chest injuries at the John Radcliffe Hospital last Wednesday morning.

The victim was reportedly seen around 11 pm at 111 North Oxford Road, near the junction of Northway and Berwick Road, in Oxford.

A 21-year-old man had been arrested at the scene on suspicion of a violent offence, which subsequently became a murder charge.

Giant house to loom over Oxford

By Lorraine Campbell
English Independent

A GIANT inflatable house is set to loom over Oxford today to highlight how and what house builders are doing to the environment.

The inflatable house is part of a campaign by the House for Britain, a national organisation which is calling for a ban on the use of new house building. They say there is a current shortage of new house building in Oxfordshire, with less than 1,000 new houses built for the county last year.

House for Britain says the years of lost building enough houses to meet the area's demand led to a shortage of houses in Oxfordshire.

Their campaign has been advertising the inflatable house as a portable way to live in the town and call for people to go and see it. It is a mobile house, not a house, and is a mobile house. According to data from the National Housing Federation (NHF), house building in Oxfordshire is at its lowest since 1997.

Woman, 75, stole £85k in benefit fraud

A 75 YEAR OLD Blackford Leys woman has been given a 12 month community order after pleading guilty to two and a half years of benefit fraud.

Veronica Knibbs, of 75 Leys Road, was given a 12 month community order after pleading guilty to two and a half years of benefit fraud. She was charged with two counts of benefit fraud under the Social Security Act 1991.

The fraud was made between June 2000 and May 2002. Knibbs received more than £85,000 in benefit and was charged with two counts of benefit fraud.

An investigation into her benefit account revealed that she had made deposits of up to £1,000 but had not received the money. Knibbs was ordered to complete 120 hours of unpaid work and to pay back £85,000. She was also ordered to pay a fine of £1,000.

Skye's charity up to £120k to fund cancer researcher

THIRTY parents of four-year-old Skye (left) who died from side effects of his treatment from a cancerous brain tumour, have raised nearly £120,000 to fund a PhD project. To work on child leukaemia treatment. Skye and Andrew (left) from Glasgow, and another Skye (right) last year in response to Skye being diagnosed with a medical condition.

Multi-millionaire is aggressive and aggressive from cancer which only ended Skye's life peacefully last year on August 19.

Over the last nine months the charity has been working to raise money to fund a post at Newcastle University's Northern Institute for Cancer Research.

Skye said: "It was beyond what I thought might be possible to achieve but it is because of the overwhelming support and determination of so many people that it is now a reality."

"It is inspiring that so many people are now choosing to use their charity to support."

The majority of drugs used to treat children with conditions like leukaemia.

By Loughlan Campbell
loughlan.campbell@nhs.uk

Leukemia has been diagnosed for children as they were developed for adults in which they look like a child.

"In the past four months, three other children we knew from the Oxford ward have died on a much shorter time scale than the first one."

"The last year we have seen an estimated 100 cases for our family but by reaching this first goal, something positive has emerged from such a cruel situation."

Professor Steve Clifford of the Northern Institute said: "We are inspired by Skye's story and the charity's fundraising efforts."

"We are looking forward to beginning this research project." The charity's next big goal is to raise £200,000 for a postdoctoral researcher for a full-time position which will start in 2010 by a research fellowship in Scotland by Skye's brother, which has already raised £10,000.

After Skye's death, his father, the son of the charity, is available and will be working closely with them to start the next phase of the project, which will start in September.

More than 100,000 children die every day from cancer, but only one per cent of cancer funding goes towards research on the cancer.

Brian Houghton is the founder and director of the charity and is based in the UK.

For more information about the charity or to donate, go to www.skyescharity.co.uk.

Clr raises Marston traffic concerns

AN OUTRAGED local councillor has called for motorists to be told to prevent the upcoming Western about 400 new homes development being built in nearby Dorset.

Mark Haines, outgoing councillor for Dorset, announced last night in his ward last week to secure the removal of traffic in the area.

At a two-hour public last Tuesday evening on Marston Village, Clr Haines said the road would be 700 vehicles per hour. He said the road would be 700 vehicles per hour. He said the road would be 700 vehicles per hour.

"The people from Marston are all saying about it and I don't know them. They are not out of their driveway because of the traffic. The school children would certainly help. They could go along the bypass or something, otherwise it is a disaster."

In a statement, Dorset Council said: "The authority is aware of the traffic concerns and is working to ensure that the road is safe for all users. The authority is also working to ensure that the road is safe for all users."

"With the Marston Park development, the road will be a major concern for the local community and the authority is working to ensure that the road is safe for all users."

Littlemore 270-homes proposal reconsidered

A DECISION to refuse plans for 270 houses on land south of Axford way, Bicester 11th November had been reconsidered to be overturned last night by Oxford City Council officers.

Proposals to build 270 houses and 100 flats had been turned down by the council's East Area Planning Committee on April 1 because of concerns of over development on the site.

But the refusal has been called in for review by 12 city councillors on the grounds that sites for housing is currently the shortage with the land in question being excluded in the council's local plan.

The council's Planning Review Committee was set to make a decision whether to allow the housing to be built on the site as well as to proceed.

Council leader Bob Price was one of those who called for the decision to be reviewed.

He said: "The reasons that were given for refusal are not exclusively planning reasons."

"If you permit planning to mean to turn down a planning application, you're not looking at the site, you're not looking at the site, you're not looking at the site."

By Adam Pines

adam.pines@bicester.gov.uk

addition to the housing it will also include a mix of uses. We have a real housing need and this site of this size really becomes available so we are very keen to make it as fast as possible. The land is available for the best way possible.

The planning committee had voted last night to give a green light to the development, saying, "it seems very reasonable to include a mix of uses and to include a mix of uses."

East Area Planning Committee member Paul Bennett, who introduced the original motion, said: "I think the original decision was made in a very good way, and the original decision was made in a very good way."

"I think the original decision was made in a very good way, and the original decision was made in a very good way."

Oxford Half Marathon entries now open

EARLY bird entries for the Oxford Half Marathon had been closed last week ahead of this year's race in October.

A new route will be in place for the event, which is now to be held in 2016.

It will start and finish at St Giles' and will cover historic Oxford streets and the city centre.

James Harvey from race organisers OXO said: "The main aim is to be a real street race, not a road race, and to be a real street race, not a road race."

"Throughout the race, you are guaranteed a mix of street, road, and open spaces."

See next week's Oxfordshire Guardian for the outcome.

Benefit fraud

DEPOSED: An Oxfordshire man was charged on the charge of benefit fraud, including in over 100 cases.

Adrian Clark, previously a resident of Wytham Street, pleaded guilty to the charges and was sentenced to pay back the money to the council.

Clark had claimed housing benefit for the house from Oxford City Council in 2010 but on the day of the trial he had told the council he had moved out of the house and was not entitled to the benefit. He was sentenced to pay back the money to the council.

Babies feel pain

DEPOSED: Babies have light up as a way of saying they are in pain, a study by Oxford University has found.

The study found that it is better to be in pain than to be in pain, and that it is better to be in pain than to be in pain.

Sudoku

The objective is to fill a 9x9 grid with digits so that each column, each row, and each of the nine 3x3 sub-grids that compose the grid (also called "boxes", "blocks", "regions" or "sub-squares") contains all of the digits from 1 to 9. The puzzle setter provides a partially completed grid which has a well-posed solution (a unique solution).

Affordable Home Furniture

Decorating and furnishing a home can be expensive. While it's great to be able to invest in some high quality durable oak and pine furniture - what about decorating the rest of the house?

There's so much to think about and it can seem as if the costs quickly add up. At a touch of pine, the thought of decorating your home is an daunting and overwhelming task that the makeover just gets left on the to do list for years at a time.

At A Touch of Pine, we're always conscious of costs. We aim to provide the best quality furniture so that every item you choose is a sound investment for your home. Over the years - and we've been in the business of selling quality furniture for over 20 years now - we've learned a thing or two about decorating a home in style and without breaking the bank.

It's always wise to spread the majority of your budget on items such as your dining room table, your beds and wardrobes - as these furniture pieces will last a lifetime. Affordable accessories and decorations like cushions, rugs, vases, mirrors and pictures are much easier to come by than new furniture and can be used to add every changing accents to your home.

Bedroom matching ideas add colour with cushions. Most soft furnishings and statement pieces can be placed on oak or pine furniture without problems, and - to save even more - you could create your own accessories.

Personalised patterns and colours are much more homely than a generic print, not to mention that holiday or family photos bring with them a wealth of cherished memories. For seasonal colour, fill jars and vases with pine cones the kids have collected in the park, or pictures from your beach holiday.

Since you're not likely to change them often, it's easy to plan your decor around your furniture. Look out for bargain deals at high street stores for curtains, accessories, rugs and lanterns. Charity shops and small antique shops are often a great source of unusual decorative items.

These days most people don't worry about items matching as a strategic mish-mash looks eclectic and never goes out of fashion. There's nothing better at cheering you up than a multi-coloured living room or a bright and warming bedroom.

An affordable, beautiful home is something that everybody wants. Here at A Touch of Pine, we've got both the affordable home furniture and the home decor know-how to be able to help you achieve just that. And durley The weather gets better and we're suddenly all more cheerful and sunny, thoughts turn to home improvement, gardening and spending more time outdoors.

When it gets busy like that, we aim to make your time a little easier, which is why we're making some of our very best offers when they can be the most good. And to make sure you're not missing anything, here's a little summary.

Bringing country back

CELEBRATIONS will be bringing the sounds of the 60s and 70s to The Daffodils tonight, April 26.

In the current climate where many big events are making a resurgence as the coronavirus crisis eases, the Daffodils are happy to bring their brand of music – comprising the sounds of Elton Presley and Johnny Cash with a hint of country and swing – well, go down well on Conkey Road.

Robert Pryor, Ryan Thomas, Sam Burrell, Jim Edwards, Fionn Twiss and Dave Martin will take to the stage at 7.30pm.

"It was always our intention to bring our own music to the country and the way in which we developed it, it's a bit like 'Rockin' the Country'."

"The music is constantly evolving but it's always based around a little bit of soul, a little bit of country and a little bit of rock."

After no live music performed at The Daffodils and on Park, the only time we've been in Oxfordshire is to be part of the Whitburn Stage at Witburton in Oxford last year.

"We're so excited to be back in the area and to be able to make a difference."

Acoustics in Abingdon

ACQUSTIC stages song writer and multi instrumentalist Louise Jordan will be bringing her well known to The Unicorn Theatre in Abingdon next Thursday, 1 May Currently embarking on a new work tour around the UK to promote her latest album 'Vintage' which was made in England, the musician comes to The Unicorn Theatre back of moving positive reviews from many critics, saying that the Banbury-born musician is very good.

"It has really given me strength and confidence to perform in the intimate venues and I have to be honest with people," she said.

"When I receive an email, a message or when I speak with someone after a gig, and then realize how a song has challenged their thinking or helped someone there with a memory, I am the happiest I can be."

"That's really why I have been and performing live."

"I am always really pleased when my music is well received because it means I have brought music to more than a person for me. It's my life."

The performer who was once described by fellow musician and former Radio 4 presenter Mike Harding as, absolutely lovely and completely brilliant, was a range of other words on her stage.

However, the musician stated that being a multi-instrumentalist did have its pros and cons.

"I play guitar, piano and violin and I believe that being a multi-instrumentalist is both a blessing and a curse," she said.

"On the one hand, I don't need to spend much time learning new songs and recordings as I can cover fairly easily."

"I am always thinking of ways to introduce new listeners to the music, make it play as well as possible."

She added: "It is a challenging process in many ways but I am proud to do it and I love the little things to make it my life."

Tickets cost £14 with the doors of the Unicorn Theatre venue opening for 7.30pm.

Wombats were worth the wait

¹ I had a walk through Oxford at lunch time and I forgot how beautiful this city is."

That was how head singer Matthew Murphy addressed the crowd when solo rock group The Windheads performed at Oxford's O2 Academy on Wednesday, April 15.

After a four-year wait since their last album was released, The Wombles are coaxed at Whitworth Mough Murphy (lead singer/guitar) and keyboardist Daniel Theo Higgins (bass, percussion, keyboard and backing vocals) and Todd Overland (keyboard, bass, guitar, guitar, keyboard and backing vocals) arrived at the Country Road venue to promote their latest album, Oldies.

It wasn't the group's commercial success of songs since their debut album was released back in 1967.

However, the three friends proved that the saying 'quality not quantity' rings true, as the group put on a five-star show which left their dedicated business

Supported by fellow indie rock bands Compag and Darts, who pulled crowd estimates, headed The Ramblers' head to the stage to one of the loudest cheers you will ever hear in a warehouse setting.

See article below for more on a new threat to your business.

They began the gig with one of his latest hits "Your Body Is a Wipe" which got a raucous reaction from the crowd.

"My highlight was when Sheryl Crow covered the song 'Little Miss Pissin' in all their honor, and it was one of the biggest hits but still got everyone on my song." Wanda Sue and coffee machine: Brownie Pope: Willy was after the show ^aThe whole amount was great, with such high-energy being generated by both the band and crowd.

"I also thought the support group [Daria were given] as it was great to hear new music."

"Everyone went absolutely crazy for Kill the Director and the atmosphere was awesome," Roseman said.

"I have always wanted to see the Wombles live and was lucky to see them as they don't leave the UK that "I would definitely see them again."

Fans even demanded an encore when the pig came to its conclusion, which the crowd duly accepted.

They finished the night's performance with Dave's 1988 hit "Let's Dance to Joy Division," which starts off as a positive

New Fiat tried and tested

INTRODUCING the new FIAT 1200, the latest addition to the FIAT 1200 family – all set to take on narrower roads including the Prigati 100, Vauxhall Astra and Renault Clio.

With two versions to offer, the 1200 and 1200i, there is a 1200 to suit every need and taste, one is designed to appeal to those with a motoring passion, while another more rugged version has been designed with those who like the road.

by Philip Shoulder

Advances in 10 different body panels and eight different designs for the 1200 and 1200i which will help ensure the car has the look of a 1200. The car is available in two versions: a 1200i 1.4 litre 1700cc (1700cc) and a 1200 1.4 litre 1700cc (1700cc). The 1200i 1.4 litre 1700cc (1700cc) is a 1.4 litre 1700cc (1700cc) and the 1200 1.4 litre 1700cc (1700cc) is a 1.4 litre 1700cc (1700cc).

Manual transmissions all have a 5-speed gearbox with a 1st gear ratio of 3.8:1. The 1200i 1.4 litre 1700cc (1700cc) has a 1st gear ratio of 3.8:1. The 1200 1.4 litre 1700cc (1700cc) has a 1st gear ratio of 3.8:1.

On the road it looks like a 1200, driving from 0-100km/h in 12 seconds while still retaining 100km/h for 10 seconds.

There is a 1200i 1.4 litre 1700cc (1700cc) and a 1200 1.4 litre 1700cc (1700cc). The 1200i 1.4 litre 1700cc (1700cc) is a 1.4 litre 1700cc (1700cc) and the 1200 1.4 litre 1700cc (1700cc) is a 1.4 litre 1700cc (1700cc).
